About the Joint Research and Publication of Book on Disaster Management Laws in Asia: A Retrospect.

The Joint Research and Publication of Book on Disaster Management Laws in Asia: A Retrospect is initiated by Prof. (Dr.) S. Sivakumar, Senior Professor, Indian Law Institute/ Member, 21st Law Commission of India. He has conceptualized the present joint research project to bring scholars from different countries in Asia for contributing a chapter on Disaster Management laws in their respective country. The focus of the chapter inter-alia is to highlight the unique disaster profile of the country and also to enumerate legal and institutional setup vis-à-vis disaster.

Disaster as an issue is of phenomenal concern not least because of the exponential increase in the incidences which are costing human lives and causing the destruction of properties. Disaster for long was considered an 'Act of God'. The events such as earthquakes, floods, etc. were believed by many to be the wrath of god that emerge to punish man! The causal link between the human elements in the occurrence of disaster has certainly not been thoroughly investigated in the past.

It can hardly be controverted the relationship between the dizzying pace of human activities and their impact felt on the entire earth's ecosystem. The human domination of biological, chemical, and geological processes on earth is an undeniable reality. Asia is home to around 61 % of the global population. This region also shares the burden of suffering the highest number of disasters compared to the other continents.

In continuation with our initiatives, CLEA (Common Legal Education Association) along with Indian Law Institute, New Delhi is organizing an International Webinar on the theme - Disaster Law in Asia: A Retrospect to be held on 27th and 28th January, 2023. The research outcome of the joint research project will be tested and verified in this webinar. Contributors would have the opportunity to present their research outcomes in this two-day webinar. The detailed schedule of the event is mentioned below:
